Acrylic Painting with Greg Siegart

Paint: What makes it pretty

Suggested Starter Palette

Titanium White	Cadmium Yellow	Cadmium Red
Alizarin Crimson	Burnt Umber	Burnt Sienna
Ultramarine Blue	Cobalt Blue	Sap Green
Phthalo Green or Viridian		Black

We use a lot of white so I suggest buying the large tube

Advanced Palette same as above and...

Yellow Ocher	Raw Umber	Raw Sienna
Cerulean Blue

And what makes you happy

Water Containers

Container for water to clean brushes and hydrate paint as you work.
A spray bottle to mist the paint.

Palette: What holds the paint while we create

Wood, acrylic, Plexiglas or tear-away are all fine

Suspension: What on which we paint

I suggest 16X20 inch or larger for the beginner

Stretched canvas (canvas stretched over a frame)

Canvas board (canvas glued to a board or panel)

Hard board (masonite or other hard wood boards with a gesso* coating)

Other gesso coated surfaces can also work

Brushes: What keeps us from using our fingers

Flat or bright #12 or #10, #8 or #6, #4 or #3. Bristle fan #4 or #3. Sable round #5 or #4 or even a #3. Sable liner or script brush #6 or smaller. Palette knife of your choice.

You will find a long handled brush will work the best.

**Gesso is the white coating added to the painting surface of the canvas and other suspensions.*
